CursorFX is a cursor for people with disabilities. It will enable someone who has lost their sight to use a mouse again. It works by sending keystrokes using a voice recognition program called Dragon Naturally Speaking 11. This way, if someone says a letter or a word, they will get the corresponding cursor movement on their screen. The package includes the cursor, along with documentation and a free trial of Dragon Naturally Speaking. There is also a trial of Dragon Naturally Speaking 11. This application works best with Microsoft Windows XP. CursorFX is meant to get people with disabilities to use the computer. It is an easy to use cursor that is fast, yet powerful.
