GPS output converter to SRT subtitle format for GPX files. gpx2srt is a lightweight and portable application that enables you to create SRT-formatted subtitles from GPX files by calculating the velocity, glide and distance information. It comes bundled with several handy settings that can be configured with ease, even by those with less or no previous experience in conversion software. Simple interface and options It's wrapped in a user-friendly interface made from a standard window with a straightforward design, where all available options are displayed. After opening a GPX object with the help of the file browser, you can specify the value to subtract to the GPS altitude, delay time, measurement unit (metric or imperial), 2D or 3D mode, along with the starting GPS records. The new SRT file is created in the same location as the source and preserves its name. In addition, the utility creates a CSV file with statistics about the seconds, time, elevation, velocity, glide, bearing, and other details. No setup required The entire tool's packed in a single.exe file that you can save to a custom directory on the disk or copy to a USB flash drive, in order to seamlessly run it on any PC with as little effort as possible. It doesn't need DLLs or other components to run, create files on the disk without your knowledge, or add new entries to your system registry. In order to get rid of it, you simply have to delete this executable. Evaluation and conclusion SRT subtitles were quickly generated while the program remained light on system resources consumption, due to the fact that it required a low amount of CPU and RAM to work properly. It was stable throughout our tests, without hanging, crashing or displaying errors. Thanks to its intuitive interface and options, gpx2srt can be handled with ease by anyone.
